

Inhalt

*Student and Designer, 1872-1901: THE SYNTHESIS OF CULTURES: BERN AND ZURICH - Belgian and German-Swiss - Discipline and Play - Engineering in Zurich: The Swiss Synthesis - Ritter and the Bridge: Maillart and Ammann - Ritter and the Design View - STONE VERSUS CONCRETE: ZURICH, 1894-1899 - The New Material and the Tradition of Mass - Ritter and the Big Bridge - Maillart and Hennebique - THE SHIFT OF VISION: ZUOZ, 1894-1901 - Zuoz: The First Major Innovation - The Meaning of the Zuoz Design - A Proposal - An Inner Companion - Together in Zurich
Designer and Builder, 1902-1909: THE NEW FIRM, 1902-1904 - Independence - The First Success - The St. Gallen Bridge: More Rational and More Beautiful - Maillart Against the Authorities - THE FIRST MASTERPIECE: TAVANASA, 1902-1905 - Billwil and Zuoz - The Return to Zuoz - The Tavanasa Breakthrough - Melan, Morsch, and Ritter - A FAREWELL TO BRIDGES, 1904-1909 - From Basel to Davos - Building a Reputation - Builder and Architect - The Safety of Reinforced Concrete - Maillart Transforms the Floor - The Hidden Wall - Zurich University
Builder and Millionaire, 1909-1914: THE BIG BRIDGE COMPETITIONS, 1909-1912 - Surprise at Rheinfelden - Laufenburg - Aarburg - The Perils of Bridge Construction - The Stone Hand of Moser - The Lorraine Bridge Competition - Moser and Maillart - The Outward Turn - THE TENSIONS OF SUCCESS - Business and Family - Voltrastrasse: Maillart as Patron - Career Conflicts - Personalities and the Code: Practice or Research? - Teaching and the Conflict of Ideals - THE MOVE TOWARD RUSSIA - St. Petersburg, 1912-1913 - Riga, 1914 - Riga Coast in the Summer of 1914
War and Revolution, 1914-1919: RUSSIA, 1914-1916 - The Dunes of August - Riga Winter - Retreat: Petrograd to the Ukraine - Kharkov, 1915-1916 - MARIA IN RUSSIA, 1914-1916 - The Inward Turn - Maria - Maillart and Edmond - REVOLUTION AND RUIN - Maillart's Millions - The Continuing

Revolution - Escape - Constantinople, Thessalonika, and Home
 Scholar and Designer, 1920-1927: BURNING THE SACRED FIRE - Deep in Debt - Paris and Geneva - The Burned-Out European - Father and Daughter - ATTACKING THE ESTABLISHMENT: EDUCATION AND THEORY, 1920-1924 - The Geneva Brochure - The Critique of Education - The Shear-Center Controversy - ATTACKING THE ESTABLISHMENT: RESEARCH AND PRACTICE, 1920-1924 - Alpine Failures - The Elegance of Rivets - Rohn Controls the Zähringer Bridge Competition - NEW BUSINESS, NEW FORMS, 1921-1924 - Rehabilitation - A Radically New Form - The Chiasso Shed - The Fundamental Ideas of 1924 - REVIVAL THROUGH BRIDGES, 1925-1927 - The Bridge as Poem: Valtschielbach - The Bridge as Play: Châtelard - The Bridge as Novel: Grand Fey
 Solitary Designer, 1927-1932: COLLEAGUES AND FAMILY, 1927-1930 - The Professor, the Editor, and the Builder - Isolation and Routine - Eduard Blumer - FROM TAVANASA TO SALGINATOBEL, 1927-1930 - Ruin on the Rhine - The Climb to the Salginatobel - The Salginatobel Bridge - Unveiling at Salginatobel - The Salginatobel and the Lorraine Bridges - WILDERNESS BRIDGES, 1930-1931 - The Curved Bridge at Klosters - Lost Bridges and Profitable Drawings - Ammann and Maillart - Maillart Expands in Zurich - The Microscopic Bridges of Bern - RECOGNITION AND CALAMITY - The Architect and the Historian - Maillart in English - A New Generation - The Good Samaritan - Aging and a Death
 Images from Within, 1932-1934: THE INTERWAR CONGRESSES - Rohn and the Congress Idea, 1922-1928 - The Structural Congress of Vienna, 1928 - From Vienna to Liège, 1930 - The Paris Congress, 1932 - MAILLART'S METHOD, 1932 - The Giubiasco Bridge - The Toss Bridge - Rossgraben - Success in St. Gallen - THE SCHWANDBACH BRIDGE, 1933 - Schwandbach Design - Analysis in the Service of Design - Depression and Collapse - THE ACROBAT OF REINFORCED CONCRETE, 1933-1934 - Groping for New Forms - Finding a New Direction - Politics and Play - A Journey of the Mind
 The Great Debate, 1934-1938: THE SIHLHÖLZLI GYMNASIUM CONTROVERSY, 1933-1935 - Maillart Versus Max Ritter - In Defense of Design - Prestressing the Gym - The Attack on Zurich - The City Fights Back - NEW FORMS AND LOST COMPETITIONS, 1935-1936 - The Challenge in Minuscule Bridges - Reflections on Design - The Vessy Bridge - SSagesse Sans Diplôme The Broken Inspector - Lost Competitions - CAREER SUMMARY: CODES, RESEARCH, AND DESIGN, 1932-1937 - Maillart and Ritter - Maillart Debates the Code Committee - The Attack on Applied-Science Engineering - Current Issues: Integration of Form and Formula - MAILLART IN GERMANY, 1937-1938 - Battle in Basel - Rest and Reward

- The National Exposition - Bridge Form and the German Reich - German Threats and Moral Rearmament
Honored at Last, 1938-1940: THE LAST VISIT, 1938-1939 - Reunion and Cure - The Bridge Champion - Final Farewell - 1939 - Peney - Authoritarian Threats Versus a Masterpiece - The Last Bridges - TO THE MASTER - The Authorities - The Third Zurich Visit: Rest in Peace - Return to Geneva - Liberated and Tranquil