CONTRIBUTORS

Robert Allan has part-time appointments in the Department of Geography, University of Adelaide, and in the School of Earth Sciences, Flinders University of South Australia. Dr Allan wrote the text on weather and climate (pages 50 and 51).

Robert Foster, an Adelaide historian, wrote the text on Aboriginal ration stations and prepared material for the maps (page 31).

Fay Gale, Professor of Geography, University of Adelaide. Professor Gale wrote the text on Aboriginal topics (pages 3, 4, 30, 32 and 33), and prepared material for or advised on the maps on those pages. She was assisted by Irene Watson, Janine Peacock, Ann Riddle, Joy Wundersitz and Jane Jacobs at the University of Adelaide.

Trevor Griffin, Senior Lecturer in Geography, University of Adelaide. As co-editor Mr Griffin shared general oversight of the project as a whole, selected the satellite imagery and prepared the detailed design, layout and drafting specifications for all the maps.

Howard Groome, Aboriginal Resource Teacher at the Pennington Professional Centre of the South Australian Education Department. Mr Groome prepared the text and advised on the Aboriginal names for the map of the Kurna occupation of the Adelaide Plains (page 36).

Ron Hill, Tutor in Geography, University of Adelaide. Mr Hill prepared material for the map of rural land values (page 75) with the assistance of the staff of the Valuation Branch of the Australian Taxation Office.

Steve Jackson, Research Assistant to the atlas project. Mr Jackson was based at Flinders University for three years and is now on the staff of the Australian Bureau of Statistics, Canberra. He undertook a wide range of statistical, literary and cartographic research and wrote the text on the Northern Territory (page 23), and the sections on the River Murray and vegetation clearance (pages 56 and 57).

Dean Jaensch, Reader in Politics, Flinders University of South Australia. Dr Jaensch wrote the text on politics and advised on the maps (pages 100 and 101).

Philip Jones, Curator, Aboriginal History, South Australian Museum, and Roger Luebbbers, Consultant Archaeologist, Department of Environment and Planning, wrote the text and prepared material for the map of Aboriginal archaeology (page 2).

Peter Kloot, Principal Biologist, South Australian Department of Agriculture, Northfield. Dr Kloot wrote the text and prepared the material for the map of weeds (page 56).

R. K. Lewis, Principal Research Officer, South Australian Department of Fisheries. Mr Lewis prepared the text on fisheries (page 62), and provided the data for the maps (page 63).

Murray McCaskill, Professor of Geography and a Pro-Vice-Chancellor of Flinders University of South Australia. As co-editor Professor McCaskill shared general oversight of the project, selected the illustrations and wrote those sections of the text which are not attributed to other authors.

A. C. Robinson, Scientific Officer, National Parks and Wildlife Service, Department of Environment and Planning. Dr Robinson wrote the text and prepared the material for the maps of vegetation (page 54), and advised on material for pages 58 and 59.

Peter Smailes, Senior Lecturer and Chairman, Department of Geography, University of Adelaide. Mr Smailes wrote the text on trade areas (page 102), and provided data for the map (page 103).

South Australian Department of Mines and Energy. Officers of the department prepared the text and the material for the maps of geological topics (pages 44 to 47), provided data for the maps (page 18), and advised on the text, diagram and map (pages 76 and 77).

C. R. Twidale, Reader in Geography, University of Adelaide. With Elizabeth Campbell and Max Foale, Dr Twidale wrote the text on landforms (page 48), and prepared material for the map (page 49).
