Chapter 2 The Optimal Strategy for Choosing Your Web Analytics Soul Mate	15
Predetermining Your Future Success	16
Step 1: Three Critical Questions to Ask Yourself Before You Seek an Analytics Soul Mate!	17
Q1: “Do I want reporting or analysis?”	17
Q2: “Do I have IT strength, business strength, or both?”	19
Q3: “Am I solving just for Clickstream or for Web Analytics 2.0?”	20
Step 2: Ten Questions to Ask Vendors Before You Marry Them.	21
Q1: “What is the difference between your tool/solution and free tools from Yahoo! and Google?”	21
Q2: “Are you 100 percent ASP, or do you offer a software version? Are you planning a software version?”	22
Q3: “What data capture mechanisms do you use?”	22
Q4: “Can you calculate the total cost of ownership for your tool?”	23
Q5: “What kind of support do you offer? What do you include for free, and what costs more? Is it free 24/7?”	24
Q6: “What features in your tool allow me to segment the data?”	25
Q7: “What options do I have for exporting data from your system into our company’s system?”	25
Q8: “What features do you provide for me to integrate data from other sources into your tool?”	26
Q9: “Can you name two new features/tools/acquisitions your company is cooking up to stay ahead of your competition for the next three years?”	26
Q10: “Why did the last two clients you lost cancel their contracts? Who are they using now? May we call one of these former clients?”	27
Comparing Web Analytics Vendors: Diversify and Conquer.	28
