

Identity in Britain

A cradle-to-grave atlas

Bethan Thomas
and Daniel Dorling

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction: seven stages	1
1.1 Human identity	4
1.2 A human mosaic	5
1.3 Human boundaries	6
1.4 Human cartography	10
1.5 Human geography	14
Chapter 2: At first the infant: ages 0-4	17
2.1 Introduction	19
2.2 The family of infants	22
2.3 Marriage versus lone parenthood of the parents of infants	24
2.4 Brothers and sisters of infants and children	26
2.5 Girls and boys: the balance in infancy	28
2.6 Over-crowding in families with infants	30
2.7 Home ownership among the families of infants	32
2.8 Tenure of the homes of infants	34
2.9 Cars and houses of the families of infants	36
2.10 Social class of the family of infants	38
2.11 Class mixing in infancy	40
2.12 Disability and health of infants	42
2.13 Born abroad for all infants	44
2.14 Majority–minority birthplace of infants and children	46
2.15 Ethnicity of UK born infants and dependent children	48
2.16 Religion ascribed to infants	50
2.17 Conclusion: the lives of the under-fives	52
Chapter 3: Then, the whining schoolboy: ages 5-15	55
3.1 Introduction	56
3.2 The family you grow up with in childhood	58
3.3 The marriages of parents of children	60
3.4 Step-children	62
3.5 Splitting up and coming together of families of children	64
3.6 Boarding: living away from home for children	66
3.7 Religion: beliefs from home given to children	68
3.8 Age and moving home for children	70
3.9 Cars and houses: five to 10 years on, for children	72
3.10 No place like home: tenure of families for children	74
3.11 What's a home worth? Wealth of dependent children	76
3.12 Poverty: where children have least	78
3.13 Grading: awarding qualifications to children	80
3.14 Class mixing in childhood	82
3.15 Children who care	84
3.16 Conclusion: the schooling years	86

Chapter 4: And then the lover: ages 16-24	87
4.1 Introduction	88
4.2 Setting up home, first marriages, young widows in young adulthood	90
4.3 Married young, living apart and cohabiting in young adulthood	92
4.4 What are you doing with your life in young adulthood?	94
4.5 Not in education, employment or training in young adulthood	96
4.6 Certificates, diplomas and degrees in young adulthood	98
4.7 Who gets to go to university in young adulthood	100
4.8 Dreaming spires and other heart's desires in young adulthood	102
4.9 How old are you within young adulthood?	104
4.10 Have you got a car in young adulthood?	106
4.11 Where do you live and have you got children in young adulthood?	108
4.12 Where do you come from and what do you believe in young adulthood?	110
4.13 Where do you work and what do you do there in young adulthood?	112
4.14 So what do you really do in young adulthood?	114
4.15 So, are you a posh young adult?	116
4.16 How about if we were to look at your class the way they used to for young adults?	118
4.17 So, is there anyone back at your place? Caring by, and health of young adults	120
4.18 Conclusion: the years in between	122
Chapter 5: Then a soldier: ages 25-39	123
5.1 Introduction	124
5.2 Accounting for the sexes: missing men in midlife	126
5.3 Never married, first marriage and 'smug marrieds' in midlife	128
5.4 Remarried, separated or divorced: who already has a story to tell in midlife?	130
5.5 Broken marriages and broken lives: separation and widowhood in midlife	132
5.6 The household you live in (and who else is there) in midlife	134
5.7 The family you are part of (and who still is not there) in midlife	136
5.8 The families that share a neighbourhood: different ways of being midlife	138
5.9 What have you done with your life by midlife?	140
5.10 Were midlifers doing much too much, much too young?	142
5.11 Would it be rude to ask how old you are in midlife?	144
5.12 Do you drive? And other questions often not asked of those in midlife	146
5.13 Got a mortgage? Continuation on a theme for those in midlife	148
5.14 Where do you come from and what do you believe in midlife?	150
5.15 Middle management in middle England in midlife	152
5.16 A nation of shopkeepers? Industry and midlife	154
5.17 Knowing your place: class and lower management in midlife	156
5.18 Social grade: another way to partition those in midlife	158
5.19 Providing care: how else the midlifers live differently across the divide	160
5.20 Conclusion: the midlife years of conformity	162

Chapter 6: And then, the justice: ages 40-59	163
6.1 Introduction	164
6.2 Sex ratios in maturity	166
6.3 Marriage in maturity	168
6.4 Separation, divorce and widowhood in maturity	170
6.5 From married and living apart to cohabiting in the country in maturity	172
6.6 With children where they are still at home in maturity	174
6.7 Keeping yourself busy at work and at home in maturity	176
6.8 Sick, disabled, or otherwise incapacitated, reliant on benefits in maturity	178
6.9 Full of wise saws, modern instances, but not so many certificates in maturity	180
6.10 Places of preferences for those in maturity	182
6.11 Mobility in maturity	184
6.12 Tenure and the mixing of neighbourhoods in maturing	186
6.13 Ethnicity, ancestry, religion and belief identities in maturity	188
6.14 The kaleidoscope of occupational identity in maturity	190
6.15 From real estate, renting and business to manufacturing: industry in maturity	192
6.16 Remaining in your place: class and class mixing in the mature years	194
6.17 Social grade and social climbing: from midlife to maturity	196
6.18 Providing care in maturity	198
6.19 Illness, disability and poor health in maturity	200
6.20 Concluding maturity: the years out of midlife and towards retirement	204
Chapter 7: The lean and the slippered pantaloons: ages 60-74	205
7.1 Introduction	206
7.2 Sex ratios in old age: places that age before and after their times	208
7.3 Single and never married or still within their first marriage in old age	210
7.4 Widowed, remarried, separated or divorced in old age	212
7.5 Widowhood in old age	214
7.6 Living alone and other living arrangements in old age	216
7.7 Retired, retired everywhere, or sick, disabled or working in old age	218
7.8 When did you last have a job in old age?	220
7.9 Retirement by age and sex in old age	222
7.10 Benefits, Pension Credits and income deprivation in old age	224
7.11 Qualifications in old age and the legacy of schooling half a century ago	226
7.12 Age, cohort, sex and sorting within old age	228
7.13 Cars and means of travelling to work for those who still do in old age	230
7.14 Housing tenure and communal living in old age	232
7.15 State of housing and space in housing in old age	234
7.16 Ethnicity, past migrations, current stories, religious beliefs and non-beliefs in old age	236
7.17 Occupations major and minor, and in combination in old age	238
7.18 Industry and the neighbourhoods that typify each and are typified by each in old age	240
7.19 Class, dreams, aspirations, drudgery, routine and neighbours in old age	242
7.20 Caring in old age	244
7.21 Health in old age: what you should expect depends on where you live	246
7.22 Living with a limiting long-term illness in old age	248
7.23 Concluding old age: the penultimate act for most, the last for many	250

Chapter 8: To end this strange eventful history: aged 75+ .....	251
8.1 Introduction	252
8.2 Which birthday cards should sell best in which places for the truly elderly?	254
8.3 Single and never married for those who are truly elderly?	256
8.4 Still in your first marriage when truly elderly	258
8.5 Widowed when truly elderly	260
8.6 Truly elderly living alone	262
8.7 Tenure, communal establishments and the truly elderly	264
8.8 Stepping out and down or up: truly elderly living by floor level	266
8.9 Welfare benefits, central heating, under- and over-crowding for the truly elderly	268
8.10 Access to cars and driving for the truly elderly	270
8.11 Ethnic identity and religious adherence among the truly elderly	272
8.12 Health status of the truly elderly	274
8.13 Disability and health status of the truly elderly	276
8.14 Disability and health status by sex of the truly elderly	278
8.15 Most common age of death	280
8.16 Conclusion: they have their exits – the final acts of life in Britain	282
Conclusion: merely players? .....	283
9.1 Introduction	285
9.2 Life's stages from infancy to the truly elderly	286
9.3 Voting, abstaining, dissenting and political identity at ages 18+	288
9.4 Rich, poor, exclusive wealth, extreme poverty, and the rest in Britain at all ages	290
9.5 From the fertile crescent to the peaks of despair: what is normal in Britain across all ages	292
9.6 Concluding the conclusion: social topography of the stage	296