

William Crooke

Mysticism as Modernity

Nationalism and the Irrational
in Hermann Hesse, Robert Musil and Max Frisch

PETER LANG

Oxford • Bern • Berlin • Bruxelles • Frankfurt am Main • New York • Wien

Contents

Acknowledgements		9
Introduction	Mysticism as Modernity: Nations and the Logic of Irrationalism	11
Chapter One	Mysticism and Nation: Modernity and Time–Space Compression	17
Chapter Two	Gustav Landauer and Alfred Rosenberg: Eckhartian Mysticism and the Un-created Self	29
Chapter Three	Mysticism as National Depression: Hermann Hesse’s Demian	53
Chapter Four	Living as One Reads: Print-Mysticism in Robert Musil’s Der Mann ohne Eigenschaften	77
Chapter Five	Qualities Without a Man: The Predicament of Swiss Nationalism in Max Frisch’s Mein Name Sei Gantenbein	105
Conclusion	Death and the Nation	131
Notes		139
Bibliography		157
Index		171