

Dear friend,

How exciting! You are holding the first ever English Globi Book in your hands. In case you don't know me yet, please let me introduce myself:

My name is Globi. Friends would describe me as curious, mostly good-humoured and adventurous. In short, I'm ready to explore the world! In Switzerland I am a real celebrity. People have known me since 1932, a long, long time ago. I started out visiting children's parties and then in 1935 I published my first book. This was great fun! My book sold out in no time! I've continued to release new books over the years and well over 6 million Globi books have found their way into the homes of readers of all ages.

So far my books have been published in German and French. As more and more children from foreign countries are travelling to and through Switzerland, I thought it would be nice to have my stories told in English, too.

Now, won't you come join me on my adventures!

Your friend,

Globi
