

This work by way of introduction briefly presents the main features of the fields of law that are important for foreign nationals. It deals with the entry, the work and residence permits, the purchase of real estate, the social security and pension system, the marital and inheritance law as well as the system of taxation.