

Schriften zum Tier im Recht

Herausgegeben von der Stiftung für das Tier im Recht (TIR)

Band 14

Anne Peters / Saskia Stucki / Livia Boscardin (Editors)

Animal Law: Reform or Revolution?

Content

Preface and Acknowledgments	5
Vorwort und Danksagung	6
Content Overview	9
Chapter 1: Anne Peters
Introduction: Animal Law – A Paradigm Change	15
A. Changing Attitudes about Animal Rights	15
B. Changing Attitudes about Human Rights	17
C. Reform or Revolution?	20
I. Revolution as Physical Violence Justified on Higher Moral Grounds	20
II. Revolution as Abolition	21
III. A Cultural Revolution?	24
IV. Revolutionary Science	25
D. Contributions in this Book and Outlook	27
Literature	31
Chapter 2: Gary L. Francione / Anna E. Charlton
Animal Law: A Proposal for a New Direction	33
A. Introduction	34
B. Animals as Property	37
I. Efficient Exploitation	37
II. Recent Animal Welfare Campaigns: Making Animal Exploitation More Efficient	39
C. The Moral Problem of Animal Use	42
D. Animal Law: Reinforcing Property Status	48

E. Shifting the Paradigm: The Abolitionist Perspective	51
F. The Role for Lawyers in Abolitionist Advocacy: The Rutgers Animal Rights Law Clinic	58
G. Conclusion	63
Literature	64
 Chapter 3: Regina Binder
Animal Welfare Regulation: Shortcomings, Requirements, Perspectives. The Case for Regulating the Human – Animal Relationship	67
A. Introduction: Societal and Legal Changes in the Human – Animal Relationship	67
B. Abolitionism vs. Welfarism: Diverging and Converging Elements	69
C. Animal (Welfare) Law: A (Slow) Progression in Protecting Animals	71
I. Merits of Regulating the Human – Animal Relationship	71
1. Legal Status of Animal Welfare and of Animals	71
2. General Animal Welfare Provisions	73
3. Lab Animal Law	75
4. Import and Trade Restrictions for Animal Products Obtained in an Inhumane Way	76
II. Shortcomings of Animal Welfare Regulation	77
1. Consequentialist Structure of Animal Welfare Law: The Need for Justification	77
2. The Problem of Disproportion: Overestimating Human Interests	78
D. Perspectives: Abolition by Regulation	80
I. The Need for Reform	80
II. Towards an Unbiased Cost – Benefit Analysis	80
E. Conclusion: Taking Animal Welfare Interests Seriously	83
Literature	84
European Union Texts	86

Chapter 4: Margot Michel
Law and Animals: An Introduction to Current European Animal Protection Legislation	87
A. Introduction	87
B. Animal Protection Concepts	91
I. Prohibiting Cruelty or Unnecessary Suffering	92
II. Guaranteeing Well-Being	93
C. The Development of Modern Animal Protection Legislation in Britain	95
D. Development of the Pathocentric Conception	99
I. Switzerland	99
1. Animal Protection in the Swiss Constitution	99
2. Animal Dignity	99
3. Federal Animal Welfare Act	101
4. Animals are not Things	102
II. Germany	105
1. Animal Protection as State Objective	105
2. Animal Welfare Law	106
2.1. Goal and Scope	106
2.2. The Concept of Reasonable Grounds	107
E. Trends	108
F. Conclusion and Perspectives	110
Literature	112
Swiss Parliament	116
Chapter 5: Andreas Brenner
Tiere: Eine Begegnung der anderen Art als Frage der Selbstwahrnehmung	117
A. Der Mensch und das «Tier»	117
B. Die pathozentrische Wende	121

C. Das Leiden an den Verordnungsethiken	124
D. Erste Person-Ethik	126
E. Die Ethik der Wahrnehmung	130
Literatur	133
Notes on Contributors and Editors	137