CHANGING LANDSCAPE IN THE HIGHLANDS OF NEPAL, SIKKIM-INDIA AND PAKISTAN:

A PHOTO JOURNEY

Table of contents

| Introduction Nepali farmers in the hills are the champions of sustainable agro-forestry! Economy versus ecology can balance be struck? Need of greenery on farmland have been widely realized in the hills of Nepal Sustainable development is not possible in the absense of local institutions 10 Water, if harnessed properly, can promote eco-fourism and economy 11 Water, if harnessed properly, can promote eco-fourism and economy 12 Water, if harnessed properly, can promote eco-fourism and economy 13 Secured tenure rights of focal communities can change the face of the landscape 14 New technologies indeed have brought changes in the Farming system 16 New technologies indeed have brought changes in the Farming system 17 It cared, forests can heal the scars of the fragle hills New settlement emerged with new trees 18 New settlement emerged with new trees 29 Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 20 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 21 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 22 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? 18 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 20 Ses this road and farmland sustain without green to los? Change and and farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a farmland sustain without green to los? Change and a word of the face of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Croed fores to price for eco-tourism Land in Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism And of Manang has been abandoned! Where does food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only su | | 1 |
|--|---|----|
| Nepail attemets in the nits are title champitots of stackands and several sections of greenery on farmland have been widely realized in the hills of Nepal Sustainable development is not possible in the absense of local institutions 10 Water, if harmessed property, can promote eco-duorism and economy 12 Secured tenure rights of local communities can change the face of the landscape New technologies indeed have brought changes in the Farming system 16 If cared, forests can heal the scars of the fragile hills New settlement emerged with new trees 18 New settlement emerged with new trees 19 New settlement emerged with new trees 20 Can high altitude biotope survive along the new road? 21 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 22 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 23 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? 24 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? 25 Filthy Bagmati River. A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmandultes! 26 Change of the pathation would have made the town more beautiful! 27 Dess this road and farmland sustain without green tops? 28 Change of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! 39 Change of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! 39 Change of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 30 Not serious land would have been better with more trees on terraces! 30 Change of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 30 Nerse there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! 40 Change of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 41 Chystrony local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees 42 Coof forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 43 Coof forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 44 Coof forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 45 Coof forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 46 Coof for | | |
| Red of greenery on farmland have been widely realized in the hills of Nepal Sustainable development is not possible in the absense of local institutions 10 Sustainable development is not possible in the absense of local institutions 11 Secured tenure rights of local communities can change the face of the landscape 12 Secured tenure rights of local communities can change the face of the landscape 13 New settlement emerged with new trees 14 Secured tenure development and forests do go hand in hand! 15 Set settlement emerged with new trees 15 Set, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 15 Set settlement emerged with new trees 15 Set, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 15 Set settlement emerged with new trees 15 Settlement energed with new | | |
| Need or greenery or affinition trained been workery reasced in the finish of hepats Sustainable development is not possible in the absense of local institutions Water, if harnessed properly, can promote eco-tourism and economy 12 Secured tenure rights of local communities can change the face of the landscape New technologies indeed have brought changes in the Farming system If cared, forests can heal the scars of the fragile hills New settlement emerged with new trees Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 22 Can high altitude biotope survive along the new road? Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 23 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 24 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 25 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? Filthy Bagmalt River. A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduties! 30 Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? Chyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! 36 Chyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! 37 Chyaru of Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 38 Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 40 Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees 50 Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined 60 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? 50 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 41 Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 61 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? 50 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 62 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected 63 Good forest powera | | |
| Sustainable development is not possible in the assistance of local instances of the surface of t | Need of greenery on farmland have been widely realized in the hills of Nepal | |
| Valet, in harnesset pipperly, can private economian in economy Secured tenure rights of local communities can change the face of the landscape 16 New technologies indeed have brought changes in the Farming system 17 cared, forests can heal the scars of the fragile hills 18 New settlement emerged with new trees 29 Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 22 Can injuit altitude biotope survive along the new road? 22 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 23 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 26 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? 17thy Bagmat River: A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! 28 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 39 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 30 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 30 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 31 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 32 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 33 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 34 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 35 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 36 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 37 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 38 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 39 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 30 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 30 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 31 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 32 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 34 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 35 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 36 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 37 Road side plantation would have made the town more beaut | Sustainable development is not possible in the absense of local institutions | |
| Sectored lethors gives in dead comminates and range in letaes. In the standard standard is a fire acad, forests can heal the scars of the fragile hills New settlement emerged with new trees Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 22 Can high altitude biotope survive along the new road? Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 26 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? Fitth Bagmatt River. A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! 30 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 29 Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? 30 Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! 31 Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism 32 Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 40 Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! 41 Plood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 32 Noys to go love of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 33 Alta in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 44 Alta on ownership, there is a way and innovation! 45 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? 50 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 51 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected 54 Cood forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 56 From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok 60 More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? 60 Cood forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 60 Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 61 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? 62 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile | Water, if harnessed properly, can promote eco-tourism and economy | |
| New Retannotings in idea traiver build to training system? It cared, forests can heal the scars of the fragile hills New settlement emerged with new trees Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 22 Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 23 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 24 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 26 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? Fithy Bagmalf River. Abig embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! 30 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautifu! 31 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautifu! 32 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautifu! 33 Road side plantation would have been better with more trees on terraces! 34 Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism 38 Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 40 Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees 46 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? 50 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 47 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected 54 Rood forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 56 From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? 60 Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 60 From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? 60 Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 60 From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? 60 | | |
| New settlement emerged with new trees Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 22 Can high allitude biotope survive along the new road? 23 Can we sore pastureland from converting into farmland? 26 Can we sore pastureland from converting into farmland? 27 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? 28 Filthy Bagmali River. A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! 30 Can we sore pastureland from converting into farmland? 31 Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? 32 Chan we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? 33 Chandand farmland sustain without green tops? 34 Chandand farmland sustain without green tops? 35 Chandand farmland sustain without green tops? 36 Chandand farmland sustain without green tops? 37 Chandand farmland sustain without green tops? 38 Chand in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 39 Chandand farmland sustain without green tops? 30 Chandand farmland sustain developed from from? 30 Chandand farmland sustain developed from from? 30 Chandand farmland f | | |
| New Seuterinerin telegra Winth retest (Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! 22 Can high altitude biotope survive along the new road? 23 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 26 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 27 Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 28 Filthy Bagmati River: A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! 39 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 30 Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? 30 Chyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! 31 Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism 32 Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 33 Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! 34 Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khel land 35 Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees 36 Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined 37 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? 39 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 40 Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 41 From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok 42 Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 43 Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 44 Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 45 Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 46 Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 47 Forests have vanished and this cultivated and has uncertain future! 48 Forests have vanished and this cultivated and has uncertain future! 49 Columber of the sustain forests in a fragile land? 40 Forests have vanished and this cultivated and has uncertain future! 40 Forests have vanished and this cultivated and has uncertain future! 40 | If cared, forests can heal the scars of the fragile hills | |
| res, imilastrature development and lotests og yo hard miners. Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system Get Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 64 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? 64 What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? 75 Tis getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 76 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 77 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 78 | New settlement emerged with new trees | |
| Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? 26 Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? Filthy Bagmati River. A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? Charu of Manang would have baeen better with more trees on terraces! Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Where there is a will and ownership, there is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 48 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 49 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey? Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 60 Good forest spowernance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 61 Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 64 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? 65 What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? 67 To physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 78 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Yes, infrastructure development and forests do go hand in hand! | |
| Can we save pastureland from converting into farmland? Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? Fithy Bagmati River. A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! 30 Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! 32 Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? 34 Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! 36 Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism 38 Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? 40 Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! 41 Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 41 Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees 42 Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined 43 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? 45 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 50 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 51 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 52 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected 54 Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 56 From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok 56 More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? 50 Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 56 Good forest shave vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 56 67 68 What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? 68 What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? 69 To spaticipation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 60 Fopple's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Can high altitude biotope survive along the new road? | |
| Fithy Bagmeti River: A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmandultes! Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | | |
| Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 52 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 66 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 76 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 77 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Can we contemplate once?where are the paddy fields gone? | |
| Road side plantation would have made the town more beautiful! Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 152 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 64 Forests have vanished and this cultivated land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Filthy Bagmati River: A big embarrassment to civilized Kathmanduites! | |
| Does this road and farmland sustain without green tops? Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism 38 Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism 38 Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! 49 Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land 40 Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees 46 Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined 57 For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? 50 Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 51 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected 52 63 64 65 65 65 65 66 67 67 67 67 67 67 68 68 68 68 68 68 68 68 69 69 69 69 69 69 69 69 69 69 69 69 69 | | |
| Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 66 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 70 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | | |
| Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system foe good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system foe was useful and this cultivated land has uncertain future! foe How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 72 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Ghyaru of Manang would have been better with more trees on terraces! | |
| Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees 46 Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 62 The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 72 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Manang has a good prospect for eco-tourism | |
| Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection To Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation To People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land To Room the fact and the structure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation To Room the fact and the sustained only by environmental conservation | Land in Manang has been abandoned! Where does food staple come from? | |
| Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 64 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 72 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | Where there is a will and ownership, there is a way and innovation! | |
| Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 72 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | Flood, one of the effects of climate change is a serious threat to khet land | |
| For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? Thysical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 75 | Only strong local level institutions could regenerate the disappeared trees | |
| For increased settlement of Simikot, where do food and wood come from? Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla 52 Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected 54 Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests 56 From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? 60 Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 71 The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer 64 Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 66 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? 70 It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 71 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | Forest land can be rehabilitated if tenure system is well defined | |
| Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 62 The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 66 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? 70 It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection 71 Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 72 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | · | |
| Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 66 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 76 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Sustainable pasture land management can only sustain these livestock in Humla | |
| Good forest policy brings new institutional mindset to create new forests From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 62 The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! 66 How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? 170 It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | Humla has an unique fragile landscape which needs to be protected | |
| From green to grey?: Changing face of Gangtok More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system 62 The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | | |
| More forests have come but where have Rhododendrons gone? Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | | |
| Good forest governance system brings more forest and sustainable farming system The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | | |
| The more you extractthe more you allow riverbed to expand and finally you suffer Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | | |
| Forests have vanished and this cultivated land has uncertain future! How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | | 64 |
| What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | | 66 |
| What made this forest to disappear? Is it the wrong policy or something else? It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | How can we sustain forests in a fragile land? | 68 |
| Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | | 70 |
| Physical infrastructure development can be sustained only by environmental conservation 74 People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land 76 | It's getting late indeed, for conservation and protection | 72 |
| People's participation does work to rehabilitate fragile land | | 74 |
| | | 76 |
| | Where have the forests gone? Will food sustain without wood? | 78 |
| Hope that this island will be unaffected by the effect of climate change! | · · | 80 |
| Forest in Utror is vanishing slowly | · | |
| Reflecting on the photo journey 84 | | 84 |