

Freedom Rising

Human Empowerment and the Quest for Emancipation

CHRISTIAN WELZEL

Leuphana University, Lüneberg, Germany

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Tables	page xi
List of Figures	xiv
List of Boxes	xix
Abbreviations	xxi
Preface	xxiii
Acknowledgment	xxvii
Introduction	I
PART A: UNDERSTANDING EMANCIPATIVE VALUES
1 A Theory of Emancipation	37
2 Mapping Differences	57
3 Multilevel Drivers	105
4 Tracing Change	140
PART B: EMANCIPATIVE VALUES AS A CIVIC FORCE
5 Intrinsic Qualities	173
6 Benign Individualism	191
7 Collective Action	215
PART C: DEMOCRATIC IMPULSES OF EMANCIPATIVE VALUES
8 Entitling People	249
9 The Rights Revolution	278
10 The Paradox of Democracy	307

PART D: EMANCIPATIVE VALUES IN HUMAN CIVILIZATION

11	The Redirection of Civilization	335
12	The Sustainability Challenge	376
	Conclusion	393
	References	409
	Index	429

Tables

I.1	Stages of Human Empowerment over the Capability and Guarantee Domains.	page 20
I.2	Technological Advancement and Democratic Achievement in the Mid-1990s (ninety-five societies covered by the World Values Surveys/European Values Study).	21
I.3	Culture Zones and Stages of Human Empowerment (for ninety-five societies covered by the World Values Surveys/European Values Study).	23
2.1	Measuring Secular Values with World Values Surveys/European Values Study Data.	68
2.2	Dimensional Uniformity of Secular Values (within-societal variance).	69
2.3	Measuring Emancipative Values with World Values Surveys/European Value Study Data.	71
2.4	Dimensional Uniformity of Emancipative Values (within-societal variance).	72
2.5	Explaining the Coherence of Emancipative Values.	77
2.6	Correlation of Emancipative Values and Their Components with Assumed Antecedents and Consequences.	80
2.7	Correlations of Cultural with Noncultural Indicators of Development.	83
3.1	Material, Intellectual, and Connective Empowerment as Explanations of Emancipative Values.	115

3.2	Variance in National Mean Scores in Emancipative Values Explained by Clustering within Culture Zones (before and after “instrumentation”).	122
3.3	Explaining Culture Zone’s Clustering Power over Emancipative Values (two-stage least-squares regression).	135
4.1	A Reciprocal System of Shifts in Material Wealth and Emancipative Values (seemingly unrelated regression [SUR]).	152
4.2	Long-Term Temporal Order Test among the Three Components of Human Empowerment (using proxies).	164
5.1	Multilevel Model Explaining Well-Being Priorities.	181
5.2	Multilevel Model Explaining General Well-Being.	185
6.1	Effects of Emancipative Values on Individualism and Unselfishness (multilevel models).	207
6.2	Effects of Emancipative Values on Trust and Humanism (multilevel models).	213
7.1	Reanalyzing the Standard Model of Social Movement Activities with World Values Surveys Round Five Data (nonrival models).	230
7.2	Reanalyzing the Standard Model of Social Movement Activity with World Values Surveys Round Five Data (rival models).	232
7.3	The Role of Repressive Threats (multilevel models).	236
7.4	Dynamic Model of Rising Social Movement Activity.	245
8.1	Correlations of Empowering Social Conditions in 1995 with Civic Entitlements in 2005.	270
8.2	Effects of Empowering Social Conditions on Subsequent Civic Entitlements (before and after eliminating endogeneity).	273
9.1	A Reciprocal System of Dynamic Relationships (long-term shift model with citizen rights).	295
9.2	A Reciprocal System of Dynamic Relationships (short-term shift model with citizen rights).	297
9.3	A Reciprocal System of Dynamic Relationships (long-term shift model with women’s rights).	299
9.4	A Reciprocal System of Dynamic Relationships (short-term shift model with women’s rights).	300

10.1	Empirical Dimensions in Popular Definitions of Democracy.	313
10.2	Effects of Emancipative Values on Popular Views of Democracy (multilevel models).	326
11.1	Testing the Predictive Power of the Cool-Water Condition on Technological Advancement against Alternative Predictors (bivariate correlations).	345
11.2	Testing the Predictive Power of the Cool-Water Condition on Technological Advancement against Alternative Predictors (multivariate regressions).	346
11.3	Examining the Developmental Endogeneity of Fertility Control (two-stage least-squares regressions).	352
11.4	The Diminishing Impact of Natural Conditions and the Rising Impact of Globalization on Technological Advancement.	372
12.1	The Impact of the Components of Human Empowerment on Different Aspects of Ecological Sustainability.	381
12.2	The Effects of Emancipative Values on Environmental Activism (multilevel models).	388

Figures

1.1	Quality of Life Trends by Global Regions (1970–2010).	page 4
1.1	The Human Empowerment Framework.	44
1.2	Cycles of Empowerment and Disempowerment.	53
2.1	The Effect of Technological Advancement on the Coherence of Emancipative Values (before and after controlling for societies' belonging to the West and their democratic tradition).	76
2.2	Emancipative Values' Single-Peaked and Mean-Centered Distributions.	86
2.3	The New Cultural Map of the World.	87
2.4	Culture Zones on the World Cultural Map.	89
2.5	Cohort Traces on the World Cultural Map.	91
2.6	Global Value Differences by Democratic Achievement and Technological Advancement.	92
2.7	Group-Specific Emancipative Values by Society (income and education opposites).	98
2.8	Group-Specific Emancipative Values by Society (ethnicity, language, religion).	100
3.1	The Effect of Birth Cohort on Emancipative Values by Technological Advancement.	107
3.2	The Effect of Education on Emancipative Values by Culture Zone.	109
3.3	The Concept of Social Cross-Fertilization.	111

3.4	The Effect of Education on Emancipative Values by Technological Advancement.	112
3.5	The Cool-Water Condition and Technological Advancement.	125
3.6	The Cool-Water Condition across Culture Zones.	126
3.7	Observed and Predicted Culture Zone Scores in Emancipative Values.	136
3.8	Temporally Ordered Path Model of the Source Thesis of the Emancipation Theory.	138
4.1	The Rise of Emancipative Values between and within Cohorts (knowledge economies, ca. 1980–2005).	143
4.2	The Effect of Economic Growth on Rising Emancipative Values.	147
4.3	The Effects of Economic Growth and Rights Extensions on Rising Emancipative Values (mutually controlled).	153
4.4	Culture Zone Differences in Backward Estimates of Emancipative Values (with and without trend adjustment).	160
4.5	Longitudinal Coevolution of the Three Elements of Human Empowerment by Culture Zone (1940–2000).	162
4.6	Partial Effects of Prior Action Resources and Civic Entitlements on Subsequent Emancipative Values (time-pooled cross-sectional regression with panel-corrected standard errors).	165
4.7	Asymmetry between the Reciprocal Effects of Prior Civic Entitlements on Subsequent Emancipative Values and Prior Emancipative Values on Subsequent Civic Entitlements (time-pooled cross-sectional regression with panel-corrected standard errors).	167
4.8	Comparing the Reciprocal Effects of Emancipative Values and Civic Entitlements from Alternative Specifications of the Three-Equation System in Table 4.2.	168
5.1	The Effect of Emancipative Values on Well-Being Priorities.	183
5.2	The Determination and Impact of Intrinsic Well-Being Priorities (controlling for levels of well-being).	188
6.1	The Personal Value Space (dimensional analyses).	198

6.2	The Trace of Emancipative Values in the Personal Value Space.	204
6.3	Multilevel Effects of Emancipative Values on Unselfish Orientations.	205
6.4	Multilevel Effects of Emancipative Values on Generalized Trust.	211
6.5	Multilevel Effects of Emancipative Values on Humanistic Orientations.	212
7.1	Multilevel Effects of Emancipative Values on Social Movement Activity.	234
7.2	Partial Effects of the Risk of Repression and Emancipative Values on Social Movement Activity.	238
7.3	Rising Social Movement Activity in Knowledge Economies (ca. 1980–2005).	240
7.4	The Effect of Change in Emancipative Values on Change in Social Movement Activities.	242
8.1	Institutionalized People Power as the Scope of Citizen Rights.	255
8.2	A Regime Typology by Autonomy Rights and Participation Rights.	258
8.3	Distribution of Regimes over the Two Domains of Rights (in 2000).	261
8.4	The Citizen Rights Index.	263
8.5	Regime Types and Their Scores on the Democratic/Autocratic Zones of the Citizen Rights Index (year 2000).	264
8.6	Tracing the Global Democratization Wave on the Citizen Rights Index (1981–2010).	266
8.7	The Shell Model of Human Empowerment.	268
8.8	Partial Effects of Grounded and Ungrounded Preferences for Democracy on Civic Entitlements.	276
9.1	Emancipative Values and Miscaluations of Rights.	284
9.2	The Link between Emancipative Values and Citizen Rights over Time.	292
9.3	The Link between Emancipative Values and Women's Rights over Time.	293
9.4	Estimated Link between Emancipative Values and Citizen Rights in 1975.	303

9.5	Change in Values and Rights as a Function of the Values-Rights Misfit at the Beginning.	304
9.6	Emancipative Values and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender (LGBT) Rights (stock and flow effects).	305
10.1	Summarizing Popular Definitions of Democracy.	312
10.2	Notions and Assessments of Democracy by Culture Zone (before and after qualification).	319
10.3	Desires for Democracy by Culture Zone (before and after qualification).	320
10.4	Multilevel Effects of Emancipative Values on Liberalness in Notions and on Criticalness in Assessments of Democracy.	323
10.5	Multilevel Effects of Emancipative Values on Unqualified and on Critical-Liberal Desires for Democracy.	324
10.6	Democratic Deficits and Deficits in Critical-Liberal Mindedness.	329
11.1	The Impact of the Cool-Water Condition on Technological Advancement.	342
11.2	The Impact of Disease Security and the Cool-Water Condition on Technological Advancement over Time and across the World (from the beginning of the modern era until today).	343
11.3	The Impact of Disease Security and the Cool-Water Condition on Per Capita Incomes over Time and across the World (before and after the Great Redirection).	354
11.4	Causal Flow from Prehistoric Environmental Conditions to Current Technological Advancement (source thesis).	355
11.5	The Initial Delay and Subsequent Acceleration of Development by the Cool-Water Condition (the anthropological record).	362
11.6	The Historic Impact of the Cool-Water Condition on Market Exchange (controlling for age of society).	363
11.7	The Historic Impact of the Cool-Water Condition on Family Formation Patterns (controlling for state formation and urbanization).	365
11.8	Juxtaposing the Emancipatory and Exploitative Configurations of Civilization.	367

I 1.9	A Stylized Depiction of the History of Civilization.	370
I 1.10	Diminishing Impact of Natural Conditions and the Rising Impact of Globalization on Technological Advancement.	374
I 2.1	The Effect of Technological Advancement on a Society's Environmental Impact.	383
I 2.2	The Effect of Emancipative Values on a Society's Environmental Quality.	384
I 2.3	The Effect of Human Empowerment on a Society's Ecological Sustainability.	386
I 2.4	Emancipative Values as an Amplifier of the Impact of Ecological Awareness on Environmental Activism.	390
C.1	Summary Evidence of Emancipative Values' Role in the Human Empowerment Process.	394
C.2	The Transformative Force of Emancipative Values: Replacing Captivating with Liberating Social Capital.	405

Boxes

2.1	Dimensional and Compository Index Construction.	page 60
2.2	Advantages of 0–1.0 Score Normalization.	64
3.1	Social Cross-Fertilization and Reciprocal Goods.	110
8.1	Conditional and Complementary Indicator Combinations.	259