

Transcultural Communication

Andreas Hepp

WILEY Blackwell

Contents

1	Introduction	1
2	Approaches to Transcultural Communication	10
2.1	Consequences of Globalization	13
2.2	Postcolonial Critique	18
2.3	Methodological Reflections	22
2.4	Integrative Analyses	28
3	The Regulation of Transcultural Communication	35
3.1	Global Commercialization and Communicative Infrastructure	39
3.2	State Regulation	51
3.3	From the Free Flow of Communication to the Regulation of Globalization	59
3.4	The Global Governance of Media	73
4	The Production of Media and their Transcultural Contexts	82
4.1	The Cultures of Production within Global Media Businesses	88
4.2	The Transculturality of Journalistic Practice	98
4.3	Alternative Forms of Media Production	104
4.4	Media Cities as Transcultural Locations	113
5	The Transculturality of Media Products	124
5.1	Hollywood, Bollywood, and Nollywood	128
5.2	The Import of Programs and the Adaptation of Formats	140
5.3	The Articulation of News	154
5.4	Media Events	168

vi Contents

6	The Appropriation of Media and Transculturation	179
6.1	The Appropriation of Media as Cultural Localization	181
6.2	Media Disjunctions in a Mediatized Everyday World	193
6.3	Communities and Communitization	205
6.4	Media Identity and Citizenship	216
7	Perspectives on Transcultural Communication	226
	Acknowledgements	231
	References	234
	Index	270