

NIETZSCHE'S PHILOSOPHY
OF HISTORY

ANTHONY K. JENSEN

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Acknowledgments	page	ix
Citations		xi
Introduction		I
I Philological centaurs		7
Ermanarich		7
The Theognidea		12
The Laertiana		25
2 Early meta-history and context		35
Among the philologists		35
Friedrich Ritschl		43
Otto Jahn		48
Philology or philosophy		50
Closing the book on philology		55
3 Aesthetic intuition and the history of tragedy		57
Problems of justification		58
Aesthetic intuition		61
Aesthetic objectivity		64
Dionysian historiography		68
Dead as a scholar		75
4 History and historians		81
Uses and disadvantages		83
The historical sense		90
Hegel, Strauss, Hartmann		97
Bachofen, Burckhardt, Overbeck		106
5 Positivism and perspectivism		119
Objectivity		119
Description		129
Explanation		134

	Anti-realist representation	141
	Perspectival explanation	148
6	Genealogy as history	155
	Genealogy as representational anti-realism	157
	Emergence and descendance	164
	The 'English' genealogists	168
	Genealogy and the Will-to-Power	172
	Perspectival value and historiographical relativism	176
7	Autobiography as history	181
	Construction and narration	184
	Motivational explanations	188
	Description and introspection	192
	Memory and the Will-to-Power	197
	Convincing and proving	201
	Epilogue: Nietzsche's influence on the philosophy of history	205
	Bibliography	211
	Index	234