

Jung and the Ancestors

Beyond Biography, Mending the Ancestral Web

Sandra Easter

mhp
muswell hill press
London • New York

Contents

Foreword by Fred Gustafson	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
Preface.....	xvii
Chapter 1: Introduction to the Work.....	1
The Origins of This Work.....	7
Unbidden Visitations	10
Chapter 2: The Threads of Fate	15
Levels of the Unconscious	15
Personal and Collective Trauma.....	18
Fate and Destiny.....	21
Chapter 3: Beyond Biography	25
Illustrious Origins.....	25
Ancestral Legacies—Origins Without Cause	26
Reconciling Head and Heart	30
“This Uncompleted Work Has Followed Them . . .”	31
“The Dead Need Salvation”	45
Gathering Up the Loose Ends of the Ages	49
Chapter 4: Jung and the Land of the Dead	51
Questions of the Soul after Death	52
The Collective Unconscious.....	54
Jung and the Spirits of the Dead.....	57
Inheritance and the Debts of Our Forebears.....	61
Unanswered Questions, Unfinished Work.....	65
Chapter 5: Between Life and Death	73
Death and the Complex	74
A Parting Gift	76
The Ancestral Faces of a Complex.....	78

Chapter 6: Reimagining the World—Reimagining Ourselves	81
Beneath the Surface of Consciousness	84
Ancestors in the Land.....	87
Bridging the Dangerous Gap.....	96
Returning to Our Indigenous Roots	100
Regarding the Split.....	103
A New Cosmological Ground	105
Chapter 7: Following the Path Backward to Create a New Forward.....	109
A Story about Causality, Time and Space	110
Well-Being.....	122
Chapter 8: A Shared Collective Legacy	125
“The Alchemy of Illness”	126
Gathering the Pieces of “Fallen Worlds and People”	129
Chapter 9: Unearthing Abuse—Collective Grief.....	135
Cultural Complexes.....	136
Trauma.....	137
Our Collective Inheritance	139
Seeking an Alternate Route	141
Collective Origins of Personal Trauma	144
Restoring Balance and Harmony.....	145
Chapter 10: Five Intergenerational Stories	149
Our Stories	153
Hawk.....	153
Diane’s Story	155
Janis’s Story	161
Kathryn’s Story	166
Tracy’s Story.....	176
My Story	183
JoEllen Koerner’s Story	189
Some Final Words	196
Chapter 11: Varieties of Ancestral Experience.....	199
The Languages of the Ancestors	201
Symptoms of Ancestral Trauma	203
Direct Experiences of the Ancestors.....	203
Communication through Dreams and Visions.....	205
Synchronicity and the Land of the Dead	207
Nature and the Ancestors.....	209

Reconnecting with the “Inner Indigenous One”	212
Beyond the Biographical Origins of Trauma	213
Ancestral Patterns in a Family Lineage.....	215
Resolving Inherited Intergenerational Trauma.....	217
Connections with the Cosmos—and Beyond.....	219
The Importance of Ritual and Practice.....	221
A Labyrinthine Labor	222
Interpersonal Ancestral Patterns	223
The Land, Collective Trauma, and Grief.....	224
Longing to Belong.....	227
The Cosmologically Orphaned Child	230
Building a Place of Belonging: A Personal Reflection.....	233
Living the Life One Was Born to Live.....	237
When One’s Parents Are Still Living	242
In Service to Well-Being	244
Every Step We Take is Supported by a Thousand Ancestors	244
Chapter 12: Implications for Jungian Psychology and Healing	247
Personal and Cultural Complexes—The Sins of the Fathers	248
Ancestors and Complexes—A Multi-levelled Approach	250
Cultural and Ancestral Complexes	253
Racism and the National Unconscious.....	258
Individual and Collective Individuation	259
Death and the End of the Ancestral Line in the World.....	260
Impersonal Karma and Individuation.....	264
The Interconnected Web of Being and the “Great Work”	266
Notes.....	275
Bibliography	299
Index.....	307