

Madlen Kobi

Constructing, Creating and Contesting Cityscapes

A Socio-Anthropological Approach to Urban Transformation in Southern Xinjiang,
People's Republic of China

2016

Harrassowitz Verlag · Wiesbaden

Contents

Acknowledgements.....	IX
Technical Notes	XI
Chapter 1: Reading the Transforming Cityscapes	1
Approaching Urban Transformations in Southern Xinjiang	1
From Rural to Urban Through Places and Spaces	3
Rural-Urban Dichotomies and Continuities	3
Framing Urban Spaces.....	5
The Built Environment and Places from an Anthropological Perspective.....	9
Urban Spatial Transformations in China.....	11
High-Speed Urbanization	11
Attaining Status through Residential Choices	13
Re-Imagining Historical Old Town Areas.....	15
Cityscapes as Economic, Social, Political, and Cultural Representations.....	17
Structure of the Dissertation.....	18
Methodological Introduction: Doing Fieldwork in Xinjiang	19
Fieldwork Ethics and Leaving the Field	23
Chapter 2: The Political Economy of Urban Developments in Xinjiang	26
Xinjiang – Strategic Territory in the Borderlands.....	26
Pre-Communist Urban Developments in Xinjiang	28
Post-1949 Urban Developments: Territorial Integration through National Policies.....	32
Political Power, Professional Planners, and Institutional Collaborations	38
Economic Investments and Ethnic Discontent.....	44
Urban Transformations in Xinjiang: Political Power, Economic Interests, and Social Challenges	51
Methodological Digression: Dealing with Informants, Ethnicity, and Language	52
Chapter 3: Exploring Aksu’s Transforming Urban Morphology	56
Places as Happenings and Narratives.....	56
The Narratives on Urban Places under Construction.....	58
Aksu – a “Model Town” in Southern Xinjiang	58
“Aksu is Only a Springboard for Leaders”.....	61
“Every Day You Find New Developments”.....	63
“While My Siblings Went to Beijing and Shanghai, I Came to Aksu”.....	67
Pingfang, Loufang, Gaolou – from a Horizontal to a Vertical Cityscape.....	70
“Our Single-Story District Was Replaced by a Leisure Square”	74
“We Built Additional Rooms to Obtain Higher Compensation”	77

“The Sand of the Cemetery Whirls Through the Streets”	80
“Urban Residents have no Time to Care about the Environment”	83
Perceiving and Contesting the Transforming Urban Morphology	87
Methodological Digression: Observing and Visualizing Urban Morphology Through Mapping.....	90
Chapter 4: Performing (Ethnic) Identities in Urban Public Places in Aksu	93
Tracing Ethnic Boundaries in Urban Spaces.....	93
Performing Ethnic Identities in Urban Spaces	95
Mapping the Ethnic Use of Urban Spaces in Aksu	98
“Urban Han” vs. “Rural Uyghur” – Socio-Spatial Categorizations in Times of Migration.....	99
Dolan River Park – Evoking Ties to Eastern China	101
Century Square, or Imported Spatiality	105
Mosques – Religious Meeting Places.....	107
“Han Eat all Kinds of Meat:” the Use of Food Spaces.....	111
Pedestrian Streets, Malls, and Night Markets: Shopping as an Expression of Socio-Economic Status	116
Bazaars as Adaptable Urban Places.....	118
Performing (Ethnic) Identities in Aksu	122
Chapter 5: Urban Residential Communities Between Real Estate and Social Identities	124
Transforming Residential Communities in the Urban Fabric	124
Changing Notions of Urban Communities in Southern Xinjiang	126
Community Organizations: from Mähällä to Shequ	126
Residential Organization: from Danwei to Xiaoqu	129
Choosing, Capitalizing, and Advertising Community Belonging	134
Choice. “Uyghurs Live in Hongqiao – Han Live in the East.”	134
Capital. “My New Apartment is an Investment”	140
Advertisement. “We are Bringing International City Standards from Guangdong to Xinjiang”	143
Reading Space and Time: Urban Communities as Indicators of Social Transformations	149
Chapter 6: Old Town (Hi)Stories: Spatial Production and Perceptions of Kaxgar Inner City Districts.....	151
Walking Through Kaxgar’s Past and Present	151
Entering the Debate on Kaxgar Old Town Renewal.....	154
The Use and Perception of Old Town Space	156
Ruptures. Relocation and the Temporary Loss of Social Capital.....	156
Identities. Ethnicity Construction through Demolition	161
Dwellings. Courtyard Houses between Dilapidation and Nostalgia	165
Representations. Kaxgar Old Town as a Tourist Place	168
Developing a Sense of Place: a Multivocal and Multidimensional Approach to the Old Town	174

Chapter 7: Constructing, Creating, and Contesting Cityscapes in Southern Xinjiang	177
Constructing	178
Creating	179
Contesting	181
References	185
List of Maps, Tables, and Photographs	204
Maps	204
Tables	204
Photographs	205
Glossary	208
Deutsche Zusammenfassung der Arbeit	211