

Band 119

Schweizer Schriften zum Finanzmarktrecht

Herausgegeben von
Prof. Dr. Dieter Zobl
Prof. Dr. Rolf H. Weber
Prof. Dr. Rolf Sethe

Stefan A. Wandel

International Regulatory Cooperation: An Analysis of Standard Setting in Financial Law

Schulthess § 2014

SUMMARY OF CONTENTS

SUMMARY OF CONTENTS	VII
TABLE OF CONTENTS	XI
TABLE OF ABBREVIATIONS AND ACRONYMS	XVII
TABLE OF REFERENCES	XXIII
Background and course of the study.....	1
Basic problem.....	1
Purpose of the thesis	2
Setup.....	3
Differentiation and subject matter	4
Methodology	7
I. Introduction.....	9
1. A primer on the topic.....	9
2. Globalization and the challenges for financial regulation..	14
3. The need for regulatory cooperation.....	18
4. International standard setting	20
4.1. Standard-setting as a regulatory technique.....	20
4.2. The notion of “international standard”	22
4.3. The role of transnational regulatory networks	23
4.4. Soft law instruments.....	25
4.5. National regulators as key participants	27
5. Overview of international standard setting work	30
5.1. Banking supervision	31
5.2. Insurance supervision.....	32

Summary of Contents

5.3. Securities regulation	33
5.4. Capital standards	34
5.5. Corporate Governance	36
5.6. Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing.....	37
5.7. Data dissemination	38
5.8. Transparency	39
5.9. Insolvency	40
5.10. Accounting and auditing.....	41
5.11. Management remuneration.....	42
5.12. Financial conglomerates	43
5.13. Systemically important financial institutions.....	44
6. International regulatory cooperation – an analysis of standard setting in financial law	46
II. An analysis of standard setting in financial law	49
1. The theoretical framework.....	49
1.1. Introduction and background	49
1.2. Network theory and the functional logic.....	50
1.3. The distributive effects of international standard setting	53
1.4. Implications for regulatory cooperation	59
1.5. Realism and international cooperation	61
1.6. Power and transnational regulatory networks	63
1.7. Conclusion.....	65
2. Standard setting and the international financial architecture.....	67
2.1. Introduction and background	67
2.2. The decentralization of the international financial architecture.....	69

2.3. The verticality of the international financial architecture.....	70
2.4. Overview of actors and processes in the international financial architecture.....	72
2.5. Inter-institutional relationships.....	98
2.6. Key classification criteria.....	100
2.7. Conclusion.....	104
3. Compliance with international standards	107
3.1. Introduction and background	107
3.2. The implementation act.....	108
3.3. Costs and compliance decisions.....	110
3.4. Extralegal compliance disciplines.....	112
3.5. Compliance mechanisms and power	133
3.6. Conclusion.....	136
4. Legitimacy and accountability of international standard setting	139
4.1. Introduction and background	139
4.2. Definition and concepts of legitimacy.....	141
4.3. Definition and concepts of accountability	145
4.4. An overview of the accountability and legitimacy critique	148
4.5. Re-assessing legitimacy concerns	154
4.6. Re-assessing accountability concerns	162
4.7. Strengthening accountability and legitimacy.....	169
4.8. Conclusion.....	174
5. The future of international standard setting	177
5.1. Introduction and background	177
5.2. The risk of regulatory inconsistency.....	178

5.3. Pressures to formalize international financial regulation	183
5.4. Prospective strategic approaches for national regulators.....	186
5.5. Casting a glance at the future	191
5.6. Conclusion.....	194
III. Conclusion	197
APPENDIX.....	203
Table 1: Overview of the “key” standards.....	203
Table 2: Overview of the international financial architecture.....	204
Table 3: Membership in international agenda-/standard setting bodies	205

TABLE OF CONTENTS

SUMMARY OF CONTENTS	VII
TABLE OF CONTENTS	XI
TABLE OF ABBREVIATIONS AND ACRONYMS	XVII
TABLE OF REFERENCES	XXIII
Background and course of the study.....	1
Basic problem	1
Purpose of the thesis	2
Setup.....	3
Differentiation and subject matter	4
Methodology	7
I. Introduction.....	9
1. A primer on the topic.....	9
2. Globalization and the challenges for financial regulation..	14
3. The need for regulatory cooperation	18
4. International standard setting	20
4.1. Standard-setting as a regulatory technique.....	20
4.2. The notion of “international standard”	22
4.3. The role of transnational regulatory networks	23
4.4. Soft law instruments	25
4.5. National regulators as key participants	27
5. Overview of international standard setting work	30
5.1. Banking supervision	31

Table of Contents

5.2. Insurance supervision.....	32
5.3. Securities regulation	33
5.4. Capital standards	34
5.5. Corporate Governance	36
5.6. Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing.....	37
5.7. Data dissemination	38
5.8. Transparency	39
5.9. Insolvency	40
5.10. Accounting and auditing.....	41
5.11. Management remuneration.....	42
5.12. Financial conglomerates	43
5.13. Systemically important financial institutions.....	44
6. International regulatory cooperation – an analysis of standard setting in financial law	46
II. An analysis of standard setting in financial law	49
1. The theoretical framework.....	49
1.1. Introduction and background	49
1.2. Network theory and the functional logic.....	50
1.3. The distributive effects of international standard setting	53
1.3.1. Asymmetric costs.....	54
1.3.2. The need to safeguard competitive interests	56
1.3.3. Heterogeneous regulatory positions.....	58
1.4. Implications for regulatory cooperation	59
1.5. Realism and international cooperation	61
1.6. Power and transnational regulatory networks	63
1.7. Conclusion.....	65
2. Standard setting and the international financial architecture.....	67

2.1. Introduction and background	67
2.2. The decentralization of the international financial architecture.....	69
2.3. The verticality of the international financial architecture.....	70
2.4. Overview of actors and processes in the international financial architecture	72
2.4.1. International agenda setting fora.....	72
2.4.1.1. The Group of Twenty	72
2.4.1.2. Financial Stability Board.....	75
2.4.2. Sector specific standard setting networks	78
2.4.2.1. The Basel Committee for Banking Supervision	78
2.4.2.2. International Organization of Securities Commissions	79
2.4.2.3. International Association of Insurance Supervisors	81
2.4.2.4. The Joint Forum	84
2.4.3. Expert committees and other specialized standard setters	85
2.4.3.1. Committee on the Global Financial System	85
2.4.3.2. Committee on Payment and Settlement Systems.....	86
2.4.3.3. Financial Action Task Force	87
2.4.3.4. International Accounting Standards Board	89
2.4.3.5. International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board.....	90

2.4.3.6. Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development	91
2.4.4. Auxiliary organization: the Bank of International Settlements	92
2.4.5. Monitoring institutions	93
2.4.5.1. The International Monetary Fund	93
2.4.5.2. The World Bank	96
2.5. Inter-institutional relationships.....	98
2.6. Key classification criteria.....	100
2.6.1. Modes of decision-making.....	100
2.6.2. Organizational mandates.....	102
2.6.3. Membership structures	103
2.7. Conclusion.....	104
3. Compliance with international standards	107
3.1. Introduction and background	107
3.2. The implementation act.....	108
3.3. Costs and compliance decisions.....	110
3.4. Extralegal compliance disciplines.....	112
3.4.1. Reputation capital and compliance	114
3.4.2. Market mechanisms.....	115
3.4.3. Institutional mechanisms.....	117
3.4.3.1. Loan conditionality.....	118
3.4.3.2. IMF/World Bank surveillance	120
3.4.3.3. Peer review mechanisms	124
3.4.3.4. Naming and shaming.....	128
3.4.3.5. Capital market access restrictions	130
3.5. Compliance mechanisms and power	133
3.6. Conclusion.....	136

4. Legitimacy and accountability of international standard setting	139
4.1. Introduction and background	139
4.2. Definition and concepts of legitimacy.....	141
4.2.1. Definition	141
4.2.2. Process-based input legitimacy.....	143
4.2.3. Results-based, output legitimacy.....	143
4.3. Definition and concepts of accountability	145
4.3.1. Definition	145
4.3.2. Responsive, transparency-based accountability.	146
4.3.3. Sanctioning, review-based accountability	147
4.4. An overview of the accountability and legitimacy critique	148
4.4.1. Legitimacy.....	148
4.4.2. Accountability	153
4.5. Re-assessing legitimacy concerns	154
4.5.1. A closer examination of legitimacy weaknesses.	155
4.5.2. The persuasiveness of legitimacy critique.....	158
4.6. Re-assessing accountability concerns.....	162
4.6.1. A closer examination of accountability deficiencies.....	162
4.6.2. The persuasiveness of accountability critique	165
4.7. Strengthening accountability and legitimacy.....	169
4.7.1. Creating a global public sphere	170
4.7.2. Making use of domestic mechanisms	171
4.7.3. Balancing representation and effectiveness	172
4.7.4. Strengthening oversight mechanisms.....	174
4.8. Conclusion.....	174
5. The future of international standard setting	177
5.1. Introduction and background	177

Table of Contents

5.2. The risk of regulatory inconsistency.....	178
5.3. Pressures to formalize international financial regulation	183
5.4. Prospective strategic approaches for national regulators.....	186
5.4.1. Acting as a role model.....	187
5.4.2. Leveraging market power	189
5.4.3. Forging coalitions.....	190
5.5. Casting a glance at the future	191
5.6. Conclusion.....	194
III. Conclusion	197
APPENDIX.....	203
Table 1: Overview of the “key” standards	203
Table 2: Overview of the international financial architecture.....	204
Table 3: Membership in international agenda-/standard setting bodies	205