

ANN KATRIN PIHL ATMER

Translation: David Ratford

Stockholm Town Hall and its Architect Ragnar Östberg

Dream and Reality

FOREWORD • 13

CHAPTER 1 • 18–27

The Home of Memories: Introduction

A MURMUR FROM THE TALE OF SWEDEN AND STOCKHOLM • 21

A new jewel • 22 ☐ Contemporary opinion • 22 ☐ The Hans Alienus characteristic • 24
The purpose and structure of the book • 25 ☐ Previous research • 27

CHAPTER 2 • 28–43

An Impending Problem:
The ‘Rådhus’ Idea and the City of Stockholm in 1900

STOCKHOLM AROUND THE TURN OF THE CENTURY, 1900 • 31

Stockholm City Council after the local government reform of 1862 • 31 ☐ A new feeling of citizenship • 32 ☐ Changes in the rôle of the ‘Rådhus’ • 32 ☐ The problem of premises for the City Council • 33 ☐ A Town Hall, a Municipal Building or an Hôtel de ville? • 34 ☐ The 1892 ‘Rådhus’ Building Committee • 34 ☐ The Eldkvarnen site is proposed, 1901 • 36 ☐ Kungsholmen – a remote district • 36 ☐ The Eldkvarnen – Sweden’s first steam-powered flour-mill • 37 ☐ The appointment of Ragnar Östberg – the first sketch of a Courthouse, 1901 • 39 ☐ Why Ragnar Östberg? • 39
The Eldkvarnen site is acquired, 1902 • 40 ☐ Ragnar Östberg’s second Courthouse proposal, 1902 • 40
The ‘Haymarket’ proposal, 1902 • 42 ☐ The suitability of the Eldkvarnen site • 43

CHAPTER 3 • 44–61

The Courthouse Period, 1902–1907

DESIGN COMPETITION FOR A COURTHOUSE • 47

A two-stage competition • 47 ☐ Ragnar Östberg’s and Carl Westman’s proposals in the first competition, 1904 • 47 ☐ “Wherewith shall it be salted?” • 48 ☐ The second Courthouse competition, 1905 • 51 ☐ Favourable reviews • 52 ☐ Revisions by Östberg and Westman, 1905–1906 • 52
Earlier examples of Swedish Courthouses-Town Halls • 53 ☐ Old and new examples on the Continent • 53 ☐ The lack of enthusiasm for the Courthouse decision of 1906 • 56 ☐ “After the Royal Palace, the most imposing building in the capital” • 57 ☐ The New Kungsholmen Bridge and the final designs for a Courthouse, 1907 • 57 ☐ A major rift within the Courthouse Building Committee • 59 ☐ Work on the Courthouse begins • 60

CHAPTER 4 • 62–89

A Man Finds his Own Path:
Ragnar Östberg’s Early Years and Education

FORMATIVE YEARS • 65

At school • 66 ☐ A student at the Royal Institute of Technology • 68 ☐ At the Royal Academy of Fine Arts • 70 ☐ The struggle to get there • 72 ☐ New building and reconstruction of the Royal Academy of Fine Arts • 72 ☐ Early career appointments • 72 ☐ A “Baron” on his travels • 74

On foot around Sweden • 74 ☞ In the New World • 75 ☞ “Live for the moment and do not think” • 75
On a bicycle • 76 ☞ Ragnar Östberg’s travel sketches • 76 ☞ Ragnar Östberg’s architect friends and exemplars • 77 ☞ “Imagination is the true life” • 78 ☞ His private life – Grop Brita • 82 ☞ Marriage and family • 83 ☞ Gudrun, Greta and Ragnar • 86 ☞ Ragnar Östberg’s own homes • 87

CHAPTER 5 • 90–111

Ragnar Östberg’s Aesthetics around 1900

A PAST BEAUTY – ITALY • 93

Proportions and lines – classical antiquity • 93 ☞ Mixed forms • 95 ☞ Work and sunshine • 98
The native Swedish • 99 ☞ The ‘devil stucco’ – the attitude to the 19th century • 101 ☞ His own ideas in his own climate • 101 ☞ The triumph of the senses and the eye • 102 ☞ Brick – the liveliness of craftsmanship • 103 ☞ The interplay of art forms – interior decoration and furnishing • 104
The little art – the relationship between architect, craftsman and sculptor • 104 ☞ The Renaissance sculptor Mino da Fiesole • 108 ☞ Views on form and decoration – the controversy between Boberg and Östberg • 108 ☞ “A true Stockholm street urchin” • 110

CHAPTER 6 • 112–127

Ragnar Östberg, the Architect

“I WANT TO SEE THE FORMS OF THE GRACES” • 115

Desire, will and patience • 115 ☞ The professional rôle of the architect, around 1900 • 116
A man of many pursuits in the service of industry • 116 ☞ The Board of Public Works and Buildings and competitions • 117 ☞ The Sergel monument • 118 ☞ The villa architect • 119 ☞ The interior decorator and furniture designer • 123 ☞ The Östermalm Grammar School – ‘Östra Real’ • 123 Decoration of the school – a conflict • 125 ☞ The school wall – another conflict • 125 ☞ Other public commissions • 126 ☞ Ragnar Östberg’s work before the Town Hall • 127

CHAPTER 7 • 128–149

The Courthouse becomes Town Hall,
1908–1911

THE COURTHOUSE DECISION IS RE-OPENED, 1907 • 131

Richard Öhnell’s disappointment • 132 ☞ The decision on a Town Hall, 1908 • 133 ☞ “A chaos of reports and proposals” • 134 ☞ In a state of suspense, 1908–1911 • 134 ☞ “A new spirit in the body of the same building” – the first Town Hall designs 1908–1909 • 135 ☞ The floor plan • 136
The façades • 137 ☞ The allocation of space and circulation routes • 140 ☞ Sources of inspiration from both North and South • 141 ☞ The designs are examined • 144 ☞ The designs are presented • 144 Anxious years • 145 ☞ How should the building be used? • 146 ☞ “The Town Hall has become popular” – the decision to build, 1911 • 147

CHAPTER 8 • 150–229

The Line and the Light: The Organisation of the Town Hall, 1911–1916

IMPORTANT PEOPLE • 153

Knut Wallenberg • 153 ☞ Herman Lamm • 153 ☞ Emil Kinander and Knut A. Tengdahl • 154
Gustaf Wickman and Henning Kinberg • 155 ☞ Robert Alderin and Carl Lindhagen • 155
The Construction Managers, Oscar Busch and Carl Möller • 156 ☞ Co-operation in the Town Hall Committee • 156 ☞ Strong support for the architect • 157 ☞ The drawing office and the building workshop • 158 ☞ Ragnar Östberg in charge • 160 ☞ The drawing office staff • 162
Elis Benckert and Ragnar Östberg • 163 ☞ Ernst Spolén and Ragnar Östberg • 163
How did the drawing office work? • 165 ☞ Who designed what? • 166

THE ORGANISATION OF THE TOWN HALL • 168

New drawings 1911–1913 • 169 ☞ Asymmetry and height • 169 ☞ The 1913 designs – floor plans and façades • 176 ☞ Light in the interior – the design and lighting of the Hall • 177 ☞ Light from above or from the side? • 179 ☞ New drawings 1914 • 181 ☞ The 1914 designs – floor plans and façades • 184 ☞ The East Range is moved inwards 1915 • 185 ☞ Radical change • 187 ☞ From the mysteriousness of the mountain to the clarity of the bell-tower – the development of the Great Tower • 188 ☞ The Tower cap • 192 ☞ The Vault of the Hundred • 193 ☞ The Civic Courtyard • 194

DEVELOPMENT OF THE FAÇADES 1909–1916 • 198

The East Range • 198 ☞ The North Range • 203 ☞ The South Range • 207 ☞ The West Block • 214
The West Façade of the Civic Courtyard – the Crown Façade • 217 ☞ The North Façade of the Civic Courtyard • 220 ☞ The East Façade of the Civic Courtyard – the Pilaster Façade • 223
The South Façade of the Civic Courtyard – the Column Façade • 226

CHAPTER 9 • 230–249

The Growing Palace: The Start and First Years of Construction, 1911–1916

THE CONSTRUCTION COSTS AND THEIR FINANCING • 233

The importance of donations • 233 ☞ The time schedule and the construction process in brief • 234
The building site and the work-force • 235 ☞ Lively press interest • 237 ☞ The dispute about the Town Hall Bridge • 237 ☞ The surroundings – quaysides and square • 238 ☞ Advanced technology in the foundations • 239 ☞ Building material and construction techniques • 241 ☞ Heating, lighting, water and ventilation • 242 ☞ Contracts for the Town Hall • 243 ☞ Drama about bricks • 244 Problems with the granite • 246 ☞ “I want wooden floors” • 248 ☞ The Working Group is appointed • 248 ☞ Criticism from the contractors • 248 ☞ ‘Topping-out’, 1916 • 249

CHAPTER 10 • 250–263

Muted Trumpets: The Later Construction Period of the Town Hall, 1917–1923

YEARS FILLED WITH PROBLEMS • 253

A looming question mark – the re-organisation • 253 ☞ A new Construction Manager • 254
Price-inflation and economic crisis 1917–1922 • 254 ☞ Crisis years in the construction of the Town
Hall • 255 ☞ Runaway finances • 257 ☞ Limited budgetary allocations by the Council • 257
The schedule collapses • 259 ☞ Ragnar Östberg in private – Carin and Ragnar • 260

CHAPTER 11 • 264–309

The Triumph of the Eye: The Town Hall takes Shape, 1917–1923

EXTERNAL WORKS AFTER TOPPING-OUT • 267

The final design of the façades – a window becomes a tower • 267 ❏ From closed cap to belfry – the termination of the Great Tower • 271 ❏ The Council considers the new termination of the Great Tower • 272 ❏ The public reception of the new termination of the Great Tower • 273 ❏ The crown of the Tower evolves • 276 ❏ The symbol on the Tower – the Three Crowns • 278 ❏ The Tower Clock, the Procession and the Carillon • 280 ❏ The roofs and the copper sheet collection • 281

Internal alterations – light in the corridors • 283 ❏ Sunny windows – more light in the interior • 285

An increase in office-area and the 1917 allocation of space • 285 ❏ The allocation of space is revised 1919–1920 • 286 ❏ The final allocation of offices 1923 • 290 ❏ Peace and fragrance – the garden • 291

Commitment and controversy over the garden • 300 ❏ The fate of the Commission Building • 301

The Town Hall Committee concludes its work • 302 ❏ Architectonic modifications and paths of inspiration • 302 ❏ His attitude to contemporary architecture • 305

Ragnar Östberg's working method • 307

CHAPTER 12 • 310–373

The Interior Design

INSPIRATION FROM DIFFERENT TIMES • 313

A new department in the drawing office • 313 ❏ Historical studies in preparation for the task • 314

Ideas on configuration and interior decoration • 317

MOVEMENT AROUND THE TOWN HALL • 318

Entry into the Town Hall • 318 ❏ The corridors • 319

PUBLIC ROOMS • 324

The Blue Hall • 324 ❏ The Blue Hall remains red • 325 ❏ Balcony, staircase, portico and floor • 328

The Blue Hall stands the test • 333

THE SEATS OF POWER • 336

The Council Floor • 336 ❏ The design of the Council Floor – 1916 and 1917 proposals • 336

The final design of the meeting rooms • 337 ❏ Offices for Commissioners and their staff • 338

Discussion rooms and library on the Council Floor • 341

THE HIGH HALL OF DEMOCRACY • 342

The Council Chamber • 342 ❏ Carl Larsson considered • 343

The final design of the Council Chamber • 344

THE STATE APARTMENTS – SWEDISH GRACE • 348

A decisive step in the interior decoration • 348 ❏ The Oval and its tapestries • 348 ❏ Light streams through the Great Gallery • 349 ❏ The Prince's Gallery • 351 ❏ A room with varying forms – the Rotunda • 351 ❏ A less complicated room – the Three Crowns Chamber • 354 ❏ The Blue Room that began as a stair-well • 356 ❏ St Erik's Vault becomes the Shell • 356 ❏ Before the Golden Hall became golden • 357 ❏ A secret donation • 358 ❏ The 1916 Golden Hall donation designs • 358

Ernst Spolén's counter-proposals for the Golden Hall • 362 ❏ The development of the Golden Hall before 1921 • 362 ❏ The Bellman Cellar becomes the Town Hall Cellar • 367 ❏ Melchior Wernstedt assumes responsibility • 367 ❏ The decoration and furnishing is completed • 369 ❏ Choice of materials and suppliers • 369 ❏ Who manufactured the detailed decorations and furnishings? • 369

“Drawbacks and inconveniences” • 372

CHAPTER 13 • 374–429

The Handshake between Craftsman and Artist

THE DECORATION OF THE TOWN HALL • 377

Disputes about public ornamentation • 377 ❑ Choice of artists and craftsmen for the decorations • 378

THE ARCHITECT IN PARTNERSHIP WITH THE JOINER AND STONEMASON • 381

Art metal-work • 381 ❑ Aron and Gustaf Sandberg • 386 ❑ Co-operation between the architect and the sculptor • 386 ❑ Aron and Gustaf Sandberg's sculpture • 388 ❑ Christian Eriksson • 391

Carl Milles and Ragnar Östberg • 392 ❑ Milles, Eriksson and Engelbrekt • 394 ❑ Nudity provokes violent debate – Carl Eldh • 398 ❑ Other sculptors • 401 ❑ Filip Månsson and the decorative painting • 402 ❑ Some of the minor painting tasks • 406

INITIATIVES BY ARTISTS • 407

Henrik Krogh and Leander Engström • 407 ❑ Few women artists • 409

TWO REJECTIONS ATTRACT ATTENTION • 410

Isaac Grünewald • 410 ❑ Bertil Damm's Apotheosis for the Golden Hall • 411

THE CHOSEN ONES • 413

Axel Wallert – the open-air artist • 413 ❑ The reliefs on the East façade • 413 ❑ Prince Eugen and the Great Gallery • 414 ❑ The Stockholm landscape in the Great Gallery • 416 ❑ Trees and pilasters in the Small Assembly Room • 417 ❑ Axel Törneman and the Blue Room • 418 ❑ The Apotheosis of Stockholm as a Maritime City • 421 ❑ J.A.G. Acke, Yngve Berg and stucco-work in the Great Gallery and the Rotunda • 423 ❑ Yngve Berg in the Town Hall Cellar • 428 ❑ Not considered at first – Georg Pauli • 428

CHAPTER 14 • 430–455

The Golden Hall Mosaics: Genesis and Design

EINAR FORSETH • 433

The genesis of the mosaics • 433 ❑ The commission to Puhl & Wagner, Berlin • 435 ❑ A mosaic is born • 436 ❑ Einar Forseth wins the contract • 437 ❑ The composition • 440 ❑ The Queen of Mälaren – goddess and queen of heaven • 447 ❑ Creepers and figurative scenes from past and present • 448 ❑ Sources of inspiration • 451 ❑ The examining committee May 1923 • 451
Later reputation and the 1926 controversy about the Queen of Mälaren • 454

CHAPTER 15 • 456–505

A Major Task: Furniture and Lighting in the Town Hall

EARLY WORK ON FURNISHING • 459

The Council considers furnishing questions • 459 ❑ The furniture designers • 460 ❑ The Furniture Department's method of work • 462 ❑ The allocation of tasks • 463

MÖBELÖTEXTIL AND ERNST SPOLÉN • 464

The Council Floor • 464 ❑ The State Apartments – the Three Crowns Chamber and the Blue Room • 468 ❑ The Golden Hall • 471

CARL MALMSTEN • 476

The Council Floor • 476 ❑ Furnishing the Council Chamber – from Ernst Spolén to Carl Malmsten • 476 ❑ Offices for the Commissioners and the Council Chairman • 481
Other offices • 481 ❑ Melchior Wernstedt and the furnishing of the Town Hall Cellar • 482

TOWARDS A FORM OF CLASSICISM • 483
Sidney Gibson and the furnishing of the State Apartments • 483 ❧ More classicism – Gunnar
Asplund and Fredrik Wetterqvist • 483
A TEXTILE VISIONARY – MAJA SJÖSTRÖM • 489
The textiles • 492 ❧ The case of Bevilacqua and Maja Sjöström • 500
NEW ELECTRICAL FITTINGS FOR THE TOWN HALL • 502

CHAPTER 16 • 506–541

The Apotheosis and the Phoenix: The Town Hall's Figurative
World and Symbolic Language

GLORIFYING A CITY • 509
ORNAMENTAL AND EPIC DEPICTIONS • 510
The upward striving • 510 ❧ Under celestial signs • 512
SAINTS AND HEROES • 514
St Erik – patron saint of the city • 514 ❧ St George as a chosen motif • 517 ❧ Saint Karin • 520
STORIES AND HISTORY • 521
Salmon, salmon, brown-back salmon • 521 ❧ The origin and interpretation of the legend • 522
The Stockholm log • 523
KEY SYMBOLS – BIRGER JARL, ENGELBREKT AND GUSTAV VASA • 523
Men of distinction from past and present • 527 ❧ Artists and writers • 528
Heroes of everyday life • 529
GODDESSES AND MOTHERS • 531
The Great Mother • 531
KEY SCENARIOS – STOCKHOLM OR SWEDEN? • 535
“Powerful, pulsating, currents in the historic life of the city” • 535 ❧ Old things tell tales • 537
Arousing a feeling for tradition • 539 ❧ A personal Phoenix • 539

CHAPTER 17 • 542–559

The Reputation Spreads Worldwide

BEND THE NECK TO BEAUTY • 545
The period after the Town Hall • 545 ❧ The controversy over the professorial chair • 546
The new era • 547 ❧ The Town Hall makes an impression • 552 ❧ “Perhaps the finest modern building in the world” • 553 ❧ The final years • 556

APPENDIX • 563

SOURCES AND BIBLIOGRAPHY • 565
Some explanatory remarks about the source material • 565
Selected unpublished sources • 566 ❧ Bibliography • 567
NAME AND SUBJECT INDEX • 575
PICTURE SOURCES • 582
ABOUT THE AUTHOR • 584