

The Four Literatures of Switzerland

Iso Camartin, Roger Francillon, Doris Jakubec-Vodoz, Rudolf Käser
Giovanni Orelli, Beatrice Stocker

Contents

Introduction

The Adventure of Writing in Switzerland Beatrice Stocker 7

I The Literature of German-speaking Switzerland

Part One Beatrice Stocker

1. From the beginnings to 1700 11
2. The Enlightenment and its effects 18
3. The great story-tellers of the nineteenth century 24
4. The turn of the century 34

Part Two Rudolf Käser

5. Trailblazers and outsiders 37
6. Confirmation and challenges in literature up to the mid-twentieth century 47
7. Max Frisch and Friedrich Dürrenmatt 54
8. Poetry and politics: The Fifties and Sixties 59
9. A variety of forms: From the Seventies to the Nineties 67

II The Literature of French-speaking Switzerland

Part One Roger Francillon

1. A problematic identity 89
2. The Protestant tradition 90
3. The "Helvetian" tendency 93
4. Opening towards Europe and cultural mediation 96
5. The nineteenth century: Consolidation of the Swiss identity 97
6. The renaissance of 1904 100

Part Two Doris Jakubec-Vodoz

7. Poetry or poetic involvement 106
8. The emergence of prose writers 112
9. The fascination of the novel 116
10. The rejection of the novel 125
11. The brittleness of the novel 130

| | | | |
|-----|--|------------------------|-----|
| III | The Literature of Italian-speaking Switzerland | Giovanni Orelli | |
| | 1. The beginnings | | 139 |
| | 2. The eighteenth century: A cosmopolitan view | | 139 |
| | 3. 1803: Ticino becomes a sovereign canton | | 140 |
| | 4. At the margins of literature | | 141 |
| | 5. Francesco Chiesa and his circle | | 143 |
| | 6. On the trail of Giorgio Orelli | | 146 |
| | 7. Dialect and dialect poetry | | 147 |
| | 8. Clarity and order: Narrative literature | | 149 |
| | 9. Ticino and its guests | | 150 |
| IV | Rhaeto-Romanic Literature in Switzerland | Iso Camartin | 153 |
| | Bibliography | | 161 |
| | Literary magazines and institutions | | 163 |